DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows:

Different proteasome inhibitor: peptide borates, peptide epoxyketones, peptide vinyl sulfones, or ((-)-epifallocathechin-3-gallate;

Different polymer: from claim 13.

2. Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.
3. Applicant is required to elect a single disclosed species of the C-terminal peptide aldehyde, proteasome inhibitor and a polymer. For example, a medical device comprises a C-terminal peptide aldehyde consisting of Carbobenzoxyl-L-Leucyl-Leucyl-Norvalinal and the proteasome inhibitor is peptide epoxyketone, and polymer is polyolefins. Please note, the above example is just an example of election of species.

The Applicants may elect any single disclosed species from claims 9, 10 and 13.

4. Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

5. The claims are deemed to correspond to the species listed above in the following manner:

Claims 9, 10 and 13

The following claim(s) are generic: none.

6. The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: The C-terminal peptide aldehydes claimed are patentably independent and distinct due to different structures. The epoxomicin has the structure

while norvaline has the structure. Further, search for one would not lead to the other. The proteasome inhibitors (including C-terminal peptide aldehyde) claimed are patentably independent and distinct due to their different structures. For example, epigallocatechin-3-gallate (EGCG) is extracted from green tea and has the structure:

Art Unit: 1654

while peptide sulfone has the following structure:

Further, search for one would not lead to the other. The polymers claimed are patentably independent and distinct due to their distinct structures. For example, silicones have the general structure

while polyurethane has the structure

the other.

Further, search for one would not lead to

7. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

8. The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

9. Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.
